

ABOUT THIS COURSE

Day Surgery / Procedure Practice now equates to 62% of all elective procedures in Australia. As a function of this change, the roles of nurses practicing in the Operating Room and Day Surgery also have needed to change. This course provides a solid grounding in those changes to practice, in line with working in a Day Surgery / Procedure environment.

This course has been designed to inform you as a nurse of the principles & current practice issues to enable you to meet your patients needs in this dynamic area of nursing practice.

You may be new to this speciality or have previous knowledge and skills that you wish to consolidate and perhaps expand upon.

This course will provide an efficient guide to improving your knowledge in this specialist area of nursing practice.

An overview of anaesthesia, post anaesthesia care, anaesthetic drugs, and infection control will be provided. These areas will be addressed in the context of the practice in a day surgery / day procedure setting.

This course is suitable for Registered Nurses in the following areas:-

- Operating Suites
- Day Surgery Centres
- Endoscopy Units
- Imaging Departments
- Accident & Emergency Departments
- Cath Labs
- Laser Centres
